Willkie Charges Defense Work Lags

Says Preparedness Ruled by Politics

Thousands Hear Foreign Policy Address. Speaks Today in Steel Centers of Two States.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 3.—Wendell L. Willkie extended his presidential campaign into Ohio and Pennsylvania industrial cities today after accusing the Roosevelt administration of playing "politics with preparedness."

While cheering men and women who filled the 28,000 seats of Cleveland's public auditorium waved a multitude of small American flags, Willkie declared last night that he was now exposed to the aggressors because of the political theories and the political ambitions of a few men. We are not prepared and we are not getting prepared.

The Republican presidential nominee, interrupted time after time by applause, described the defense job as "appalling in magnitude" and offered this program in event of his election.

OUT OF OFFICE

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN

LABOR PLACED IN BIGGER ROLE BY CHURCHILL

Britain's War Control Group Reshuffled After Chamberlain Steps Out.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Oct. 3.—Alling Neville Chamberlain, former prime minister under whom Britain entered the war against Germany, dropped out of the government today, and Prime Minister Churchill reshuffled his cabinet to give labor a more prominent role.

The man whose tightly-rolled umbrella came to symbolize his pre-war policy of appeasement toward totalitarian rulers, resigned both from his post as lord president of the council, which he had held since his cabinet fell last May after the ill-fated campaign against the Germans in Norway, and from the inner war cabinet.

Chamberlain also resigned his leadership of the Conservative party, which he retained when he gave way to Churchill as prime minister last May.

The authoritative press association said "it is a foregone conclusion" that Churchill would succeed him as party leader.

In quitting the political arena to return to private life, the 71-year-old Chamberlain expressed his "unshaken confidence" that under Churchill's leadership, Britain "with her allies and associates will succeed in overcoming the forces of barbarism which have reduced a great part of Europe to a condition little better than slavery."

In reply, Churchill expressed admiration for Chamberlain's aid and said "you did all you could for victory."

Changes in Prime Minister Churchill's government, announced simultaneously, increased the size of the inner war cabinet from six to eight members, but observers who had predicted a sweeping realignment were surprised both by the limited scope of the alterations and the choice of new appointees.

The most important changes included transfer of Laborite Herbert Morrison from the supply ministry to the combined job of secretary for the home department and minister of home security, and naming of Labor Minister Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood to the important inner cabinet.

Sir John Anderson, who was minister of home security, took Chamberlain's place in the war cabinet and as lord president of the council.

Prior to the announcement, political circles had expected that War Secretary Anthony Eden would be elevated to the post of foreign secretary which he held before splitting with Chamberlain over appeasement in 1939, and also had forecast changes involving Minister of Information Alfred Duff Cooper and Minister of Aircraft Production Lord Beaverbrook.

Instead, Eden, Halifax, Duff Cooper and Beaverbrook were left in their respective offices.

Others Named
Other government appointments: Viscount Cranborne, heretofore paymaster general, became secretary of state for dominion affairs, succeeding Viscount Caldecote.

Viscount Caldecote—lord chief justice, replacing Lord Hewart whose resignation is to be effective Oct. 12 and who is to be made a viscount.

Sir Andrew Duncan—minister of supply, succeeding Morrison.

NAZI BOMBERS BLAST BRITAIN

Flights Over Isles Maintained with Regularity; RAF Visits Berlin.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Oct. 3.—Nazi bombers, operating as if on regular daily schedule, flew to the attack on Britain again today, causing destruction and casualties at scattered points.

In a Midlands town a single bomber showered high explosives and incendiaries. A factory and an elementary school were hit and it was feared one or two persons were killed.

One of the Nazi bombers fell a victim to British defenders at Hertfordshire near Hertford. When the plane came down two farm hands rushed out and made prisoners of four German airmen in it.

Nazi air invaders loosed bombs on 20 districts of London last night and early today, but the capital's central section had its fourth consecutive night of comparatively light raiding.

Anti-aircraft firing frequently was heard in the city's outskirts as German warplanes returned for their 26th nightly assault.

The government said casualties throughout the country were few, and that there was no extensive damage.

British reporters continued to tell of the development of secret weapons for use against the raiders, and some sources credited a change in defensive tactics with the failure of the Germans to attack the central region in force.

RAF raiders, backing a new game plan, attacked the English channel again to strike at German communications, at oil targets, and at "invasion ports" on the French and Belgian coasts.

(An air raid alarm sent Berlin 12 minutes early today.)

Despite thick clouds and poor visibility, British warplanes were officially reported to have struck smashing overnight blows at German oil plants, munitions factories, railway facilities and other military objectives.

Among the objectives attacked, the air ministry said, was the great Krupp works at Essen—one of Germany's biggest armament plants.

The docks at Hamburg and Wilhelmshaven also were said to have been heavily bombed, as were port facilities and shipping at Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Flushing and Antwerp.

The royal air force also was reported to have smashed again at German "invasion bases" along the channel, attacking the often-bombed ports of Ostend, Calais, Cherbourg and Ushant.

British losses in the raids were put at two planes.

BRITAIN'S TRANSPORT FACILITIES HAMMERED

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Destructive hammering of Britain's transport facilities—her railways, docks and shipping—in raids by sea and air was reported by the German high command today.

The Highland Patriot, 14,172-ton armed British merchantman, it said, was among nine such vessels sunk by U-boats in the Nazi counter-blockade.

DRAFT SET-UP NEARLY READY

27 Names for County Likely To Be Sent to Governor Friday.

Nominations for the 27 men who will direct the first peacetime military draft in Marion county are expected to be submitted to Gov. Bricker tomorrow unless something unforeseen develops. Twenty-five of the 27 have already been named and the other two are expected to be selected by tonight.

Members of the three-man county recommending committee, named to nominate persons as draft officials, reported an excellent response so far from the men nominated.

Meanwhile, the county board of elections has been called for a special meeting today at 5 o'clock to lay plans for the Oct. 10 registration of Marion county men for the draft.

As far as the nominations for service as draft officials are concerned, members of the recommending committee are not expecting any of the men to decline the nominations.

Employers' Aid Sought
There is no pay either for the recommending committee or for any of the draft officials. In view of this fact, the committee today issued a statement urging employers of men nominated as draft officials to make certain that the men do not suffer financially as a result of their work with draft boards. The jobs may require considerable loss of time from work for the draft officials, some of them.

Notices of change of residence filed since May reached 815 early today.

The board's offices will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. straight through the day, tomorrow, Saturday and Monday. They will close at 9 o'clock tonight also.

POTTERY WORKERS STRIKE
SEBRING, O., Oct. 3.—A small group of employees at the Limoges China Co. tied up the plant operations yesterday when they walked out to protest discharge of fellow workers.

Rep. George H. Bender, chairman of the rally here, termed it "the greatest political rally ever held in Cleveland" and said "there is no doubt about it whatever Cleveland is going for Willkie."

Gov. Bricker asserted "Ohio is going Republican straight through the line."

Both speakers from the grand auditorium platform, Willkie last night and Harold H. Burton, governor-elect, and David C. Taylor, mayor-elect, were in the crowd.

By The Associated Press
CROSBY FIELD, CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 3.—The Cincinnati Reds evened the World Series today, beating the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 3, in the second contest behind the masterful three-hit hurling of Bucky Walters. Schoolboy Rowe, the Tiger ace, gave up eight hits and all five Cincinnati runs before going to the showers after three and one-third innings.

Tebbetts tried to catch Joost off second and threw into center field. Joost racing to third and Myers going to second.

Walters, who had waved at the first two pitches and then got two balls, fired to McCormick in short center, and Joost was prevented from coming home by a great throw. Werber walked out a three and two count and then walked on a low pitch inside, filling the bases.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION

Editor of The Star Seems to me it might be fitting at this time for me to write a letter to your splendid paper.

Since coming to your city of Marion I have made wonderful contacts and have been treated really by the people of this city. Every one is, and has been so kind to me, especially are they so willing to help me on the streets, and your bus drivers are so accommodating. I certainly must take off my hat to them. They have been wonderful to me, and if I ever do have to leave Marion I will miss the many kindnesses shown me while living here. I left Columbus mainly on account of the conditions in traffic it was too much for me and I feel that I have really found a home in Marion.

I can not say enough about the friendliness of your city.

Sincerely yours,
ARTHUR KELLOGG

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Vitamins

Of the six most thoroughly studied vitamins, those substances so necessary for our physical and mental welfare—five are found in plant food. Only one, Vitamin D—is found exclusively in animal food. And the human body itself, like the animals from whose flesh we get our supply, can manufacture Vitamin D out of simple chemical elements with the help of sunshine.

Plants themselves are greatly affected by vitamins in the soil. We have all heard stories lately about adding Vitamin B to soil and the marvelous giant plants that result. But B is only one of the hormones and vitamins necessary to plants.

The experiments with Vitamin B on plants are, however, of great interest. This vitamin can be isolated in pure crystalline form and experimenters can know what they are doing. It stimulates root growth particularly. The roots of flax, for instance, placed in nutrient solution of mineral salts, nitrogen and sucrose will not grow, but if 1 in 10,000,000 parts of Vitamin B is added to the mixture, the root tips will grow an inch a day indefinitely, or as long as the nutrient material holds out.

Amateur gardeners, moreover, find that Vitamin B added to soil will result in large and hardier plants. Unknown to agriculturists the secret of the power of fertilizers has been the vitamin content.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Oct. 4
A DAY of many surprises and sudden visitations may be read from the complicated chain of planetary configurations. Quite an unforeseen and breathtaking event may upset the usual routine, and demand an abrupt about-face in plans, objectives and possibly emotions and associates as well. There are rather peculiar and subtle aspects to confront, but since the mind is in fine condition, profound and shrewd, and the energies aggressive and forthright, victory and definite success may be looked for. The purely personal relations are intimately involved, possibly in a romantic or emotional nature. Feminine influence is strong, beware of intrigues and duplicity. Those whose birthday it is may not be surprised, to encounter a year of the unforeseen, unpredictable and unexpected, with sudden uprootings or a definite change in plans and objectives. New places and contacts should be in order.

with surprises deeply affecting the private as well as business life. These mysterious visitations will be successfully manipulated because of alert, deep, shrewd and intuitive grasp of challenging situations. But be vigilant to intrigue and suspicious circumstances. The romantic or emotional life is profoundly involved, and may have happy and surprising denouements.

A child born on this day may have great talents and energies with much constructive ability and originality, but he may have some erratic or peculiar urges to offset his highest accomplishments. These probably may be in the realm of science, adventure or romance.

A SCHOOLGIRL JUMPER OUTFIT

PATTERN 4584

Leading classroom favorite is the jumper—it's so young, jaunty and versatile. Here's a smart example in Pattern 4584—a new-comer by Anne Adams. The pleated trend has been used with pert effect in back, where there's a 16-line-waist buttoning and an optional bow-tying sash. The back neckline may be cut low or high. See the light hearted flare to the skirt which has both front and back panels. Both the long and short sleeves of the crisp blouse are neatly hand-finished, and a gay ribbon bow may be added below the schoolgirl collar. Wouldn't dark serge or plaid wool be smart for this jumper, with the blouse in clear, starch, white?

Pattern 4584 is available in teenage sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 12, jumper, takes 2 yards 54 inch fabric and blouse, 1 1/4 yards, 35 inch fabric.

Sent fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

WENDELL L. WILLKIE for PRESIDENT

A great Ohio newspaper, which has hitherto supported only Democratic candidates for President, said of the Republican nominee, Wendell L. Willkie: "His nomination came at the answer to a specific, long-sought, demand for particularly trained to meet the problems which will face the administration at Washington in the next four years." Defend America for Americans. Defeat the third term. Elect a President fitted for the job. Vote for Wendell L. Willkie.

JOHN W. BRICKER for GOVERNOR

Ohio Needs Him
OHIO knows the costs in scandal, shame and money, of the political machine which had it by the throat from 1935 through 1938. Since that time, Governor John W. Bricker has restored both self-respect and solvency to state affairs by insisting on competence and common honesty throughout his administration. Voters now have the choice of either retaining Governor Bricker in office, or turning Ohio back to the same brazen crew from which he rescued it two years ago.

Recall the newspaper headlines during the previous administration—the "hot-mix" mess, "truckload truckers" rate-off, "shakedown" and "chiseling" on state purchases, Senate graft probe, politics in old age pensions and countless other evidences of corrupt bungling. Compare this with the decent economical administration of John W. Bricker. Their choice!

Our Flying Fortresses

ONE of the most important decisions facing this country in the immediate future is whether or not we shall sell some of our famed "flying fortresses" to Great Britain. This seems to be the only action now pending or in prospect which the axis powers might construe as aid to the enemy and therefore grounds for invoking the recent pact promising action against interference.

No other nation has planes comparable to these giant machines which the United States has developed. With a practical cruising range sufficient for a round trip crossing of the Atlantic with a full load of bombs, they were designed to protect America from attack by making it possible to engage a hostile fleet while it was far from our shores. They would be just as useful to the British in bombing the armament plants which Germany is building in Austria and Poland beyond the reach of the present R. A. F. bombers.

Our army now has 52 of these four motored giants with 12 more ready for delivery and 68 promised by the end of the year. Already such improvements have been made in the new models that the ones on hand are considered almost obsolete but they are still superior in fighting range to anything now being used in the European war.

No formal negotiations for purchase of the planes have been made or, at least, none have been announced. It is considered certain, however, that England will call this country on the question of disposing of some of these ships and another fateful decision must be made. The flying forts are much more important, ship for ship, than the destroyers which this country recently traded to Britain and this government is again confronted with the problem of whether the prospect of ultimate British victory with material help from America outweighs the possibility of resentful action from the axis powers.

Nature Relaxes

NATURE offers no more restful experience to man than a leisurely trip into the country at this time of the year.

Every season is beautiful but none invited so strongly to pleasant loafing. Spring is too alive with the bustle of new growth, summer is too full of labor and winter too austere.

But autumn! That's the time for contentment in doing nothing. Nature has stopped working for the year and has dozed the lovely colors of autumn idleness. Fruits of the year's toil lie in prodigal wealth and all outdoors seems to be taking a siesta.

Humans tired from the summer toil, oppressed by its heat and faced by the rigors of winter can do no better than to take time in autumn to absorb some of the beauty, the contentment and the restful loafing with which nature draws a curtain of glorious color over its year's activity.

Germany Bids for Help

IT IS easy for Americans to forget, because they don't want to remember, that their participation in Europe's newest war is the great impermissible factor in the desperate game now in bloody progress. The agreement reached between the axis powers and Japan is a rude reminder.

The obvious intent of the agreement is to immobilize this country by placing a potential enemy at its back door, the same ruse which Germany tried in 1917 when it invited Mexico and, indirectly, Japan to join the Central powers and divvy up the spoils if the United States became a belligerent. The trick failed, insofar as keeping the United States from giving effectual aid to the Allies and involving Japan were concerned. Japan chose to fight with the Allies, instead, and subsequent events proved it picked the right horse.

By presumably a similar application of realism, Japan in 1940 has decided to make an agreement with Germany and Italy, thus seeming to be a cat's paw for their project of establishing hegemony over the whole world. The Japanese function, presumably, is to keep the United States on guard in the Pacific while Germany and Italy consolidate their position in Europe, relieved of the worry of American interference.

It continues to be true, however, that realism (the Japanese were first to adopt it in the post-war period) cuts both ways when used as an instrument of international politics. Japan apparently has tried to pick the right horse again; if events prove it made a mistake the same realism which prompted it to side with the axis powers will swing it back into the orbit of the democracies.

The British Navy

GREAT BRITAIN has pledged that its navy shall not fall into the hands of Hitler whatever may be the outcome of the siege of the British Isles but the United States must not lose sight of the fact that terms dictated by a conqueror alter promises. If Hitler wins, he and not London will have the deciding voice as to what becomes of England's ships. The British navy stands between the United States and the aggressors of Europe only so long as Britain is free and undefeated.

News Behind the News

Washington Hears Hitler and Mussolini Having Troubles at Home.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Even the thoroughly leak-proof censorship has failed to conceal the internal troubles of Hitler and Mussolini in their own countries and the occupied areas. Authorities here are aware trouble is far more widespread than the recent admission in Berlin that the Hitler regime had met with recalcitrance in Holland. Acts of sabotage are known to have occurred both in Belgium and occupied France. After the cutting of cable in a certain French town, the mayor was imprisoned by the Nazi authorities for two weeks.

Paul Mallon

While this situation is troublesome to Hitler, there is no valid information available yet suggesting that its scope is serious. Toughest internal spot in the axis is the Italian production machine. The slow progress of the Italian war in Egypt is confirmation of other indications that Mussolini has failed to get his people to make a sufficient war effort. Nazi agents for some months have been installed in all Italian factories to spur the cause. But the failure of Hitler to deliver easy termination of the war, first promised to Mussolini for Aug. 15 and then for Sept. 15, may yet develop into the most serious crack in the dictatorial war machine.

Alternatives

This government had better speed up its defense program or slow down its foreign policy. The alternatives have become so obviously pressing since the organized dictatorial threat-diplomacy program was instituted against us that our statesmen are talking about it—privately of course. They can see that our straight-forward tactics are opening the way for our involvement before we have the weapons with which to meet the obligations we are acquiring.

This realization is evident even down deep within the national defense commission itself. The necessity for a single strong authority in control, is clear there. It is likewise most fully appreciated that materials ordered for delivery late in 1941 or 1942 might as well not be ordered at all as far as the immediate defense problem is concerned. Main trouble is no one in the commission has anything more than advisory power to require speed and coordination.

The discomfiture of these inner groups, yet wholly unapparent to the public at large, may force a change in the commission setup at least to the point of designating a chairman who could furnish the fire and power necessary to synchronize the task.

Embargo

Mr. Roosevelt's embargo against scrap iron may seriously hinder the Japanese war effort in China, but this government's purchases of gold and silver from Japan are simultaneously helping to finance the same war effort at an accelerated rate.

The tide of the precious metals, more precious to us apparently than to the Japanese, is rising high. Imports of gold from Japan ran to $6,163,481 the week ending Sept. 25, the highest of any weekly period this year.

Silver shipments from Japan that week reached $673,349, the largest in six months. The silver is believed to be part of the loot which Japan seized in China, but the gold probably is entirely newly mined Japanese production. Japanese output is about $60,000,000 a year and we apparently have been getting all of it at an average of about $5,000,000 a month. Therefore, there is little possibility that the Germans have made use of their ally yet to foist off upon us the small amounts of gold they are presumed to have seized in their European conquests the past summer.

But since the start of the Sino-Japanese conflict in 1937, this government has bought $640,000,000 of Japanese gold and more than $15,000,000 of silver, ($7,500,000 the first eight months of this year) all at premium prices that no one else would offer.

The sudden recent increases of these shipments leads authorities here to believe Japan is in a way preparing for war against us with our own money. By selling metals which she considers no longer useful for monetary purposes (her reserve stocks of gold have sunk below a paltry $150,000,000) she is enabled to build up credit in this country which she will probably use mainly to build up stores of certain kinds of oil and low grade gasoline.

Army Maps Talent Hunt

You'll Be Fitted to Right Job, If You're Drafted.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—If the army has its way, there'll be no square pegs in round holes when the new "selectees" are inducted into the service. (The army never refers to "draftees" or "conscripts" or to the "draft" or "conscription"—the present program, they have you know, is selective service and the men are selectees.) There are so many different classifications of service that it would take more than the length of this column merely to list them. To see that bakers bake and butchers butcher and typists type, the war department has worked out an elaborate system of check lists and check tests and questionnaires to find just who is a square peg and who a round one.

World war experience taught the military men that sorting manpower in accordance with its most effective qualifications could become something more than a major problem. Even after months of service, entire units were disrupted because it was discovered that men were doing work for which they were not best fitted. Men who could show a mare were peeling potatoes and not liking it a little bit. Expert bookkeepers were building bridges. The end of it, of course, was wholesale transfers, wasted time, and frazzled tempers.

There'll Be A 'Reception' To get around this in 1940-41, the army is going about it scientifically. The business will start in the reception centers. (These high sounding names almost have us down.) A "reception center" is merely a three or four day clearing house. The "Replacement Center" is Camp No. 1, where the boys will get their first taste of toughening, one-two-three-four, wearing the old uniform, saluting Shavetail Jones and rolling out for 6:15 reveille.

At the reception centers the government insurance policies will be issued, vaccinations and inoculations given, and the classification tests and interviews completed.

Don't ask me exactly what these tests and interviews are, because the forms aren't out yet and the Army says it's not telling any secrets in advance. They'll consist in obtaining all the information about aptitudes and experiences. If a man's an A-1 plumber, but with a real or imagined yen for flying, it'll be up to the test commission and interviewers to find out if he had better stick to his pipes or soar in the blue.

The result, the army thinks, will be two-fold. Opportunity for the boys will be given to shine in positions in which they are best suited and happiest; and it may straighten out a lot of misfits in life and discover hidden talents that not even the men themselves suspect they have.

After they are run through the reception centers, the men will be assigned to regular army units, to National Guard units or to replacement centers. Since the army feels that the last method—keeping the selectees together and putting them through a few months of intensive hardening and training in fundamentals of army routine, it is likely that most of the men who answer the call after October 16 will find themselves in these replacement camps.

May Not Tote A Gun

There is one other phase of the whole business which the army at present refuses to discuss and that is that even though Johnny Doe is one of the 40-to-1 shots called in the first quota of 400,000, he has almost no even chance that he won't be packing a gun.

There are the medical corps, the veterinary corps, the dental corps, the hospital corps, the engineering corps, the quartermaster corps, the clerical forces, the cooks and mechanics and scores of others. All of these are just as vital to an army as the men who fire the little guns and big ones and no army of a million men could be half prepared if it failed to develop these branches to the fullest.

WHERE ARE YOU GOING, MY PRETTY MAID?

More Than Selfish Interests Believed Motive for Writing U. S. Constitution.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—In response to an article which was printed in this place some weeks ago I received a letter from an official who occupies an important post in the educational system. "You indicate," he writes, "that no nation can live and remain a nation if the people in it cease to remember and no longer respect their own history." For many decades it was the custom of text-book writers and even some historians to utilize only the virtuous in their historical and biographical writings. Lately we have been going through a period of "debunking." Do you mean to imply that we have to do less of the 'debunking' in order to bring about in our people respect for their own history? Putting it another way, do you think that teachers are justified in emphasizing the virtuous and minimizing the opposite aspects of our history in order to develop a more zealous admiration for our history?

The question is important, and it can best be answered, I think, by examining a specific example of the "debunking" of American history. The example which I shall use is a book which was published in 1913. It is called "An Economic Interpretation of the Constitution of the United States" and it was written by Professor Charles Beard.

In the opening pages of his book Mr. Beard states the theory and outlines the method which historians ought to believe, to adopt as "a guide to research and generalization." He says: "It will be admitted without controversy that the Constitution was the creation of a certain number of men, and it was opposed by a certain number of men. Now, if it were possible to have an economic biography of all those connected with its framing and adoption—perhaps about 100,000 men altogether—the materials for scientific analysis and classification would be available.

"Suppose . . . that substantially all of the merchants, money-lenders, security holders, manufacturers, shippers, capitalists, and financiers and their professional associates are to be found on one side in support of the Constitution and that substantially all or the major portion of the opposition came from the non-slaveholding farmers and the debtors—would it not be pretty conclusively demonstrated that our fundamental law was not the product of an abstraction known as 'the whole people,' but of a group of economic interests which must have expected beneficial results from its adoption . . . Nevertheless, it does not follow that the vague things known as the advancement of general welfare or some abstraction known as 'justice' was the immediate, guiding purpose of the leaders. . . . The point is that the direct, impelling motive . . . was the economic advantage which the beneficiaries expected would accrue to themselves first, from their action."

In taking this the debunking view, Mr. Beard claims he is following "the political science of James Madison," who wrote in

"The Federalist" that "from the possession of different degrees and kinds of property . . . ensues a division of society into different interests and parties."

But for Mr. Beard, the debunker, the fact means that everybody concerned with the Constitution was directly impelled by the expectation of economic advantages. For Madison the fact meant that "the regulation of their various and interfering interests forms the principal task of modern legislation." In Mr. Beard's view the Constitution is the instrument of certain interests; in Madison's it was the instrument for regulating the conflict of interests.

Mr. Beard's view is cynicism and Madison's is statesmanship.

The critical error of Mr. Beard, and of the debunkers, is that they do not explain a great construction like the Constitution of the United States by making "a list" of the real and personal property, etc., owned by Washington, Franklin, Hamilton, Madison and the others. Other qualities and other motives were required to write the Constitution, qualities of genius and of greatness, which it is the duty of the historian to record, to appreciate and to reveal.

The Family Man

Quest for Definition Brings Numerous Letters of Praise for Great American Husband.

By DAMON RUNYON

WE HAVE received some of the most beautiful letters imaginable in reply to a request for a definition of "Family Man." They come from all parts of the country. Most of them are from wives who present their husbands in terms of the qualities of their husbands, expressing an appreciation of the gentlemen which should assure confidence in the institution of matrimony to the most skeptical mind.

In an era when the rising divorce rate indicates numerous "discordant unions," it is delightful to hear from so many who find marriage a state of complete happiness. To read the little stories contained in the letters of the success of conjugal partnership through mutual helpfulness and most of all through that element in which some nowadays seem to have lost faith, which is love.

It is encouraging to learn Damon Runyon through these letters that the American husband and father and head of his household retain all the attributes of devotion and industry, thrift and courage that through the ages have kept families together closely knit in the of a common weal and have made the American family tradition of fealty to each other, fidelity to American home and national ideal.

NO STRONGER testimony than that of the wives could be produced. We rather agree that many husbands who are the subjects of the letters before us would be greatly astounded if they realized the valuation placed on them.

The tenor of most of the missives is "my man," and nearly every writer gives us understand that her man is a little bit the man in the world, even after she subtracts a few minor faults.

It appears that some of the letter writers are a bit dubious about the seriousness of our out of $10 for what in my opinion is the definition of "Family man," and of an additional tenor to the gentleman who, in testimony of his wife or others, is deemed worthy to best fit the definition. The doubt is apparently due to our practice of kidding around about most things.

However, even while doubling, the last wrote, which leads us to the conjecture that they welcomed the opportunity of setting down on paper sweet thoughts of a husband's perhaps never before uttered. We assure the ladies that in this instance we are quite serious. After going through the letters so far received, we regret we cannot give prizes to every writer. If only for providing us with some mighty interesting reading. But it would break Rockefeller.

WE WILL publish letters from time to time to let our readers generally in on a treat, though publication now does not necessarily mean the winner. We will have to wait until the returns are in before deciding that may take a couple of weeks. For present we will withhold names but will give them out later, unless otherwise requested.

While the majority of the writers are inclined to nominate their own good men, the championship, many are content with merely giving their ideas of what constitutes the "Family man," and among these is a 19 of San Antonio, Texas, whose letter we reproduce as the first of our symposium.

"The ideal family man is the man who wiles on his way to a hard day's work and then of his family while eating the noon day luncheon prepared by loving hands. He hurries home at night to exchange cheery greetings at gate—unashamed that he has plucked a d by the path to hand to the one who reaches his side.

"He doesn't forget to tell his wife that he loves her. It is as much a part of his life as taking a drink of water. He understands that she loves to hear those words at least thousand times a year. Being just a moth boy grown tall, he must have plenty of faith. He may cuss when he hits his thumb, gets lost in the house with smoke, gets lost behind the newspaper for ever so long; but he sentimentally strokes the cat as he reads with his foot gently holds down an overjoyed floor with his own and all the neighborhood kids and usually leads in song-off key. He feels too tired to go out but how proud is home life when shared with a 'family man.'"

Why Are WPA Rolls Rising

From the New York Herald Tribune.

Since the close of the last fiscal year July 1 there has been a steady addition many thousands a week to WPA rolls. Total figure for July 3 was 1,611,213; for July 19, 1,618,988; for July 17, 1,639,294; for July 24, 1,689,448; for July 31, 1,700,284. One members that President Roosevelt asked for from congress permission to spend entire WPA appropriation for the current fiscal year in eight months. Here is a pretty indication that he means to do it. One member also the suspicions entertained and made public by Rep. Shafer of Illinois that the padding of WPA rolls which featured months before election in 1936 and 1938.

He made the point that both in 1935-1936 the period of rising WPA enrollment, also marked by business improvement and increase in private employment. The str "coincidence" this year is even more apparent week after week now for months the department of labor has been releasing bulletins of a progressive increase in private employment. Meanwhile the nation's defense program, backed by the greatest peacetime appropriations in all history, has only begun to get the workers it needs from the unemployed to serve. That directly or indirectly it would presently deplete this reserve almost to the vanishing point was the logical prospect when President asked for the authority to spend billion earmarked for relief within eight months it had ceased to be merely a prospect and become a virtual certainty when the auto momentum, we find an addition of 89,000 a July 31, with the likelihood that the increase is well above 100,000.

What is the explanation of the phenomenon? If the President or his spokesmen can persuade the people that it is not what Congress Shafer thinks it is, merely another attempt to swing an election with relief votes, they would do well to get busy immediately. Considering the record, the burden of proof is entirely on him.

Willie Attacks New Deal Foreign Policy

I say that the first plank of our foreign policy is a defense system. I'll even go further than that. Until we get a defense system we can not have a foreign policy that means anything at all.

The fact is that in the eyes of ruthless foreign states we are neither a strong nation nor a great nation. Nothing we have to say is of any consequence to them, because they see how ineffective we have become. Our vast strength has not been brought forth. It is still "on order."

Would Make U. S. Strong

I propose, therefore, that we stop talking. I propose that we get to work. I propose to set about making this nation in fact the greatest nation in the world. That is the objective that I lay before you. To reach that objective our industries and our man power must be made effective. The must be made effective for domestic prosperity, and they must be made effective for defense.

In recent weeks I have explained some of my ideas about domestic prosperity. Tonight I want to examine the problem of defense.

The defense job that lies ahead of us is appalling in magnitude. We need an adequate army. Whatever the size of this force should be, the fact is that the largest force we could put into the field today, completely equipped, is 75,000.

The navy that we have is a one-ocean navy which can only protect both oceans if the Panama Canal is kept open. Yet the Panama Canal is impossible to protect against the explosion of a ship inside one of the locks.

In the light of European battle experience, all but a few hundred of our airplanes are obsolete. The plain fact is that we are late. We are terribly late. And when I consider how terribly late we are, how confused, how devoid of plan or accomplishment, I cannot believe that the American people will dare to entrust their welfare for another four years to the present administration. It is claimed on behalf of this administration that it saw more clearly than anyone else what the course of events was to be. But if it saw it all so clearly, why are we in this terrible plight?

Recalls London Conference

In 1933 Adolf Hitler rose to power. That was also the year

I say: We must become prepared. We must begin before anything else happens and before anything else is said. We must begin now. And I know where to begin. We must begin at the source of our former greatness, our former power. We must begin with American industry.

Industry Can Repeat

It is industry that once made us the greatest nation in the world, and it is industry that will do that again today. We have a genius for industrial production. In building a defense system we are in effect building a new industry. We must remember that. We can not make ourselves strong by a patchwork method. We can not take a little from this industry and a little from that industry; we can not hope in that way to build anything that will frighten Adolf Hitler. We must unite industry with co-operation of every worker, manager and owner in the United States.

I can win that co-operation for you. I have confidence in the workers and managers of American industry. And they have confidence in me. If you were to entrust to me the safety of America in this critical time, here is what I would do: I would first make some intelligent use of the experience of the World War and the careful plans of the army and navy. To carry out those experienced plans I would appoint the most experienced and most able men. Those national defense appointments would be made irrespective of political considerations.

Aids on Hand

Many of the men I would appoint are already in Washington. But I would enable those men to become effective by giving them full authority—and if they did not get results they would go.

I would continue my efforts to aid the heroic British people—who I only people in the world today who are fighting with their lives for liberty. I would aid Britain even if it meant the sacrifice of some speed in building up our own air fleet. I would do so because the longer Britain holds out, the more time we have in which to prepare ourselves. I favor, finally, taking intelligent steps to co-ordinate our defense program with that of Canada. And I favor economic co-operation with our neighbors in the south—not with New Deal schemes but on the basis of expanding private enterprise. I favor giving those neighbors every incentive to aid themselves of the

NEWSMAN REPORTS TWO NAZI INVASION ALARMS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Two invasion alarms have been sounded along the English channel coast in the past six weeks, "bringing the army and navy springing to their stations" and causing the release of a chemical fog screen, says Vincent Sheehan, foreign correspondent, who arrived yesterday aboard the Atlantic clipper from Lisbon.

Sheehan said the first alarm was sounded Aug. 25 and the second Sept. 7, and both occasions were suppressed by British censors. "Of course, I don't know whether or not there were any actual attempts to land German troops in England," he said.

Sheehan said property damage in London is "terrible," but military damage has not been as heavy.

WALLACE LOOKS TO POST WAR PERIOD

Declares America Must Become Example to World.

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 3—No matter what happens to the world after the European war, Henry A. Wallace says, the United States "has the machinery, the personnel and the skill to build a greater America."

This country could become an example to the world—a "practical example of democracy at work," the Democratic vice presidential candidate declared here last night in his closing campaign address to voters of the northwest's wheat and power belt.

After the war, he predicted, "the countries of Europe and Asia will not have gold; we shall not want to take their paper promises and there will be violent objections to our accepting their goods."

"We may give them wheat for awhile, they are friendly, but in the end we must suit our actions to the new world economic conditions."

"America could become an example to the world—a practical example of democracy at work," speaking in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Wallace warned that strong defenses were necessary "if we are going to have peace in this hemisphere."

He praised the efforts of President Roosevelt to speed rearmament and described a "united Europe and Asia under Hitler" as a "real threat" to the United States.

"Reconstruction after World War II will be much more difficult than after World War I," he declared.

"I say to you to be thankful for a Democratic party that knows how to deal with such problems. We had to pick up the pieces in 1932."

Harding Seen as Favorite in NCO Opener with Ashland Tomorrow Night

Much at Stake As 22-Year Rival Prepares To Invade Marion.

By CHARLES HOSTETLER
Marion Star Sports Editor

MARION Harding's unbeaten gridders face the first major test of the 1949 campaign when Ashland comes here tomorrow night for the twenty-second annual renewal of football warfare between the ancient scholastic rivals. They will line up for the opening kickoff in Harding stadium at 8 p. m.

It is the initial hurdle on the Presidents' path toward another conference championship. How they fare will go a long way in determining their chances of repeating as NCO crown-wearers. It also will provide a measuring stick for comparison with future league foes, all of whom are gunning to spill the highriding locals.

A decisive victory would definitely make the men of Williams top-heavy favorites to repeat. So far they've come mighty near meriting that rating, particularly in every camp except their own. A defeat or tie, the latter being very near a moral win for the visitors, would throw the conference race into confusion and make it a free-for-all affair.

Prezies Get Odds

In most of the dope books they are touted to win, but living up to pre-game prognostications, either their own or others, is a different matter. That they are a fighting ball club has been shown in victories over Tiffin, Columbian and Piquette. Twice they've brought out the whitewash bucket to keep their own goal forbidden territory into which no enemy has managed to penetrate.

Close followers have been wondering if Coach Bill Williams has unworked all the strength of his 1949 edition. Recalling that his team won both contests handily, some are wont to believe that even more power, both on the sod and in the air, is due to be unveiled against the A's.

Williams passes off by saying his club has played its usual game in both starts. But it is unlikely that he would "shoot the works" in relatively unimportant non-league encounters.

Big Team Coming

Ashland, boasting a big team, one composed of many veterans, will arrive here ready to grab their first clean cut victory and hang up an NCO win. They'll be anything but a pushover, and if past history of grid rivalry is any criterion, the game should be an excellent one to watch. Marion, with victories last year and in 1938, never enjoyed a longer reign of supremacy in the 21 seasons the teams have been meeting.

For the 21 contests the A's hold an edge. They won 11, while Marion was winning eight. Two duels ended in ties. The Presidents' longest margin was back in 1924 when they blanked Ashland, 31-0, but the rivals went one better a decade later by blanking Harding, 33-0, in 1934. The highest total ever rolled up against Ashland was the 36-5 count in 1933, and again just 10 years later the rivals outdistanced this mark by defeating Marion, 37-7.

Ashland enjoyed the longest unbroken term in the saddle,

How They Stand

1919—Marion 20, Ashland 13.
1920—Marion 20, Ashland 6.
1921—Marion 20, Ashland 7.
1922—Ashland 27, Marion 14.
1923—Marion 26, Ashland 4.
1924—Ashland 31, Marion 0.
1925—Ashland 26, Marion 7.
1926—Marion 19, Ashland 6.
1927—Marion 21, Ashland 7.
1928—Ashland 12, Marion 0.
1929—Ashland 26, Marion 4.
1930—Ashland 14, Marion 6.
1931—Ashland 33, Marion 0.
1932—Ashland 16, Marion 6.
1933—Marion 36, Ashland 5.
1934—Marion 37, Ashland 7.
1935—Marion 15, Ashland 9.

(Denotes tie game.)

winning eight games, 1929 through 1938, without a break. It was in 1937 on the foreign field that Marion finally snapped the string by holding a powerful opponent to a 6-6 deadlock. Since then Marion won a pair, 18-9 last season and 30-0 the previous year. Only once in the 21 meetings have both teams gone scoreless. In 1920, a situation which isn't expected tomorrow night.

Both Sides Confident

Reports today from the respective camps reveal both have an atmosphere of confidence, or what the coaches call "winning spirit." The Ashlanders realize they're in a last-stand fight to stay in the running for NCO laurels, since a second league defeat would virtually put them out of the running. Harding men are not overlooking the game's importance, knowing a victory would be a long step toward keeping possession of the NCO throne, while a loss would snap an enviable victory streak and earn them a berth in the league cellar.

NEWARK TOPS LOUISVILLE

By The Associated Press
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 3.—The American Association champs aren't faring so well against power hitters. The Louisville Colonels got a closeup of the batting strength of Newark, International league playoff champions, last night in the first game of the junior world's series and bowed to the Bears, 10-3.

Reds' Backers Begin to Back Down After Tigers Show Real Power

Series Facts And Fancies

(Compiled from Associated Press and United Press services.)

If Cleveland had won the American league pennant, the players would probably have been a little richer. The Reds had it figured out that two capacity crowds in the Tribe's massive Lakefront stadium would have meant a $7,000 million for each member of the winning club.

Eddie Brietz of the AP reports Cincinnati "is baseball crazier than it was when we showed in a year ago. Maybe it's because the Reds haven't already lost a pair to the Yanks." The feeling around Cincy before the series opened was that the Reds would win in five or six games. Eddie himself picks the Reds in six or seven games.

Owner of the Year

Somebody has suggested Walter O. Briggs of Detroit should be designated as the "Owner of the Year" and why not? He lost 90 players to Judge Landis and still won the pennant.

More about the Cleveland "bawl" club. Tommy Tucker of the Cleveland News comments: "Anyway, the Indians did prove their contention they couldn't win for Vito as manager."

"Football" injuries?

Eddie Brietz wonders is some of these much-advertised Cincinnati Reds injuries aren't of the same variety as those on football teams...where a star half-back runs a fever Friday night, then goes out there Saturday and runs his head off.

Charles Turner of Columbia, Mo., points out that if only Taft and the Indians had come through along with the Reds, wouldn't Ohio have had a big year? Still a .333 percentage isn't so bad.

Added Attraction

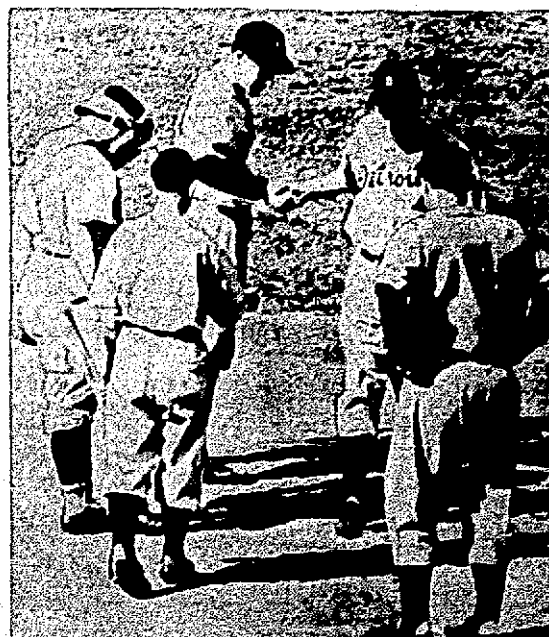

World Series players are playing for a little more than the winning purse this time. The outstanding player will get a set of 21 matched pipes worth $500 from a manufacturer.

Joe Deggs, baseball's No. 1 relief pitcher of the year, is one of the big reasons for the Reds' success. His philosophy: "Hell," says the Fireman, "there isn't any such thing as a good hitter—at least there isn't a hitter whom I regard as being as good a hitter as I am a pitcher. If they're pitched to properly, they can all be stopped."

CUBS SQUARE SERIES

The Chicago Cubs, behind the steady pitching of Rookie Vern Olsen, turned back the White Sox, 8-2, yesterday in the second game of the annual Chicago championship series. The White Sox won the first game Tuesday.

Tigers Get First Series Homer

Bruce Campbell of the Detroit Tigers is congratulated by Peter Higgins after driving in the first home run of the World Series with Rudy York on base. The Tigers clawed the Cincinnati Reds to take the series opener, played at Crosley Field, Cincinnati. (International Illustrated News Photo.)

College Grid Teams Get Set for Saturday Battles

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Minnesota and Nebraska, perennially big and bruising teams which like their football that way, get together at Minneapolis Saturday. But they could save a lot of wear and tear on each other by merely looking at the records and conceding that it was Minnesota's year.

In the last four seasons the rivals have split even, with Nebraska winning in the odd years and Minnesota even—which makes the Gophers due Saturday.

The past further discloses that every time Minnesota opened the season by defeating Washington, it went on to turn back Nebraska. And last week the Gophers beat Washington, 19 to 14.

Ohio State has figured that it will have a 23-pound weight advantage in the line over Purdue Saturday, and that it will have plenty of speed to match the Boilermakers' Purdue polished its defense and its aerial attack yesterday in preparation for the opening conference game of the season.

At Indiana, Coach Bo McMillin said he would use a veteran backfield combination against Texas but kept its identity a secret. Injuries removed another prospec-five regular, the fifth, at Wisconsin. Coach Harry Stuhldreher said Leonard Seelinger, sophomore back was the latest.

Last Saturday's 41-0 rout of California notwithstanding, Michigan coaches still were dissatisfied with the Wolverine offensive and contended the score was "unimpressive." Passing, both offensive and defensive, came in for further study at Iowa. Northwestern looked at Syracuse plays demonstrated by freshmen. Illinois got ready for Bradley with a scrimmage against the frosh.

CHAMPIONS TO ABOUND AT MT. GILEAD SHOOT

Champions will meet champions next Sunday when seven crack district teams of the Ohio Rifle and Pistol association meet at the organization's range near Mt. Gilead for the league champions' match.

Five teams have been certified as eligible to compete, according to William E. Kelly of Akron, director of the small-bore rifle activities of the association. The teams eligible are Toledo Rifle club, defending titlists, Marietta Rifle club, Portage Rifle club of Summit county, Dayton Rifle and Revolver club and the Wilmo club of southwestern Ohio.

Preceding the firing, trustees of the association will hold their annual meeting to elect new officers and set up the program for the indoor season.

"PROSPECTIVE" LIST FOR INDIANS BOOMS

Take a Look, You Might Be Next Boss.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, Oct. 3.—The "He-Probably-Will-Manage-The-Indians" club has been growing at an amazing rate, uninterrupted by the World Series, and now has such a large membership that veteran baseball men are inclined to feel slighted if they aren't on the list.

Of course there are some baseball men who are glad that they aren't being considered, knowing the temperament of the Cleveland front office, fans and players.

It's difficult to keep up with the rumors, but here's a semi-complete list of the men who have been labeled 1941 Cleveland managers:

Bucky Harris, Washington pilot; Mickey Cochrane, former Tiger mentor; Luke Sewell, Cleveland coach; Rogers Hornsby, former big league manager and this year's head man at Oklahoma City; Bill Terry, boss of the New York Giants; Steve O'Neill, 1940 Buffalo manager; Roger Peckinpaugh, one of Cleveland's 13 former managers; Hal Trosky, Indians first baseman and field captain; and Oscar Vitt, questioned leader of the turbulent Tribesmen in the season just closed.

Vitt isn't conceded much chance to get back the job. Most of the Cleveland sports writers believe Sewell, a former Indian catcher, will be named.

Eddie Brietz reports that talk that Bucky Harris might shift from Washington to succeed Oscar Vitt at Cleveland, had the gossiping buzzing today. Harris is reported interested because (A) He could get more money and (B) He thinks he could win a pennant with such guys as Feller, Boudreau and Mack around. (Confidentially, he is a bit fed up on all those Cubans, Lithuanians, Venezuelans, etc., with which the Washington camp is littered).

Here's a late flash from gossip row: If Harris does get the Cleveland job, his successor at Washington will be either Buddy Myers, Ossie Bluege or Rogers Hornsby. Things are so hot Hornsby has asked at least two guys we could name to interfere on his behalf with Clark Griffith.

Reds Didn't Play Yesterday

The Reds were never quite so far off form as yesterday, according to John Prye, AP sports writer. Cincinnati said he, "didn't fall to pieces; it didn't come apart at the seams; it didn't blow up. It just didn't play the kind of ball that Joe Cincinnati grew accustomed to seeing in the 76 games at home."

Still Crippled, Cincy Displays No Punch at Bat; Weak in Field.

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI, Oct. 3.—It looked again today like the National league had overmatched itself as the Cincinnati Reds reeled under the impact of an opening 7 to 2 defeat by the Detroit Tigers and sought desperately to come back.

Again it looked like boys had been sent out to tackle grown men. Today's game at Crosley was only the second of the big series that decides the championship, yet the experts, a majority of whom picked Cincinnati to win, already were shaking their heads and wondering what could have brought them to make such a cockeyed choice.

The Reds looked bad in every way yesterday as the Tigers blasted Paul Derringer from the hill with a five-run assault in the second inning and then went on to win as they pleased.

Hittless Wonders

It was obvious that Manager Bill McKechnie's boys had nothing resembling a batting punch as Bobo Newsum pawed dust around the pitching mound and mowed them down. And it was equally plain that the Reds were tightened up to the snapping point in the field.

Walters faced a situation in the 1938 series similar to the one confronting him today. Then it was the Yankees who had licked Derringer, and Bucky went charging into the breach. The Yanks found his sinker-ball a positive delight and teed off on him while Monte Pearson was blanking the Red with two hits.

McKechnie refused to give up, naturally, but Bill must be beginning to wonder if he's lived a proper life. Yesterday's was the ninth straight World Series defeat suffered by clubs under his management. The Yanks have trounced his 1923 Cardinals four straight and served his Reds the same bitter dish last autumn. And now the Tigers have taken up where the Yankees left off.

The Reds still were sadly crippled, with Catcher Ernie Lombardi and Second Baseman Lonnie Frey on the bench, and in looking increasingly doubtful that either would get into the play-off at all. But there was no real reason to believe that their absence seriously influenced yesterday's one-sided result.

Eddie Joost, Frey's replacement, made two of the Reds' eight blows; off Newsum and didn't bungle a chance at first. Veteran Jimmy W. son caught well enough, too, though his batting naturally was weaker than might reasonably have been expected of Lombardi.

Shortstop Billy Myers got a long running start toward being the goat of the play-off when twice in that terrible second inning he failed to make snap throws that would have retired Hank Greenberg and possibly have enabled

A CITIZEN AT LAST

America's most famous peanut vendor, Steve Vasiliakos, 61, has become a citizen at last. Steve, who came to America from Greece in 1919, became widely known by his successful fight to retain "squatter's rights" to his peanut stand at the corner of the White House grounds in Washington.

CITIES SEE HOPE OF AIRPORT WORK FADE

New Cincinnati Field Likely To Be Only Ohio Project.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 3.—Hopes of nearly 100 cities for early improvement of airport facilities at government expense were crushed today by the state bureau of aeronautics.

A bureau spokesman said that only one major project—a new, $1,100,000 field at Cincinnati—appeared certain of inclusion under an $80,000,000 appropriation measure now before congress, although minor improvements might be made to a number of other parts.

He described as a "survey, rather than a long-range plan," a recently published civil aeronautics administration report citing need for construction of 52 new Ohio landing fields, with improvements to 45 others.

"Under the present appropriation bill," he added, "federal money can not be spent for buying land or constructing buildings, except in most unusual cases where such action is justified by the secretary of war or navy."

Such an exception, the spokesman said, probably would be made at Cincinnati where low-lying Lunken airport was too subject to river fog to meet war department standards.

A bulletin from the bureau from Col. Donald H. Connolly, federal administrator of civil aeronautics, said that:

"The important thing is for communities not to assume that long lists of airports in our survey are going to be built immediately from current funds. The list involves some 44,000 locations whereas the program now before congress will not exceed a few hundred fields."

Colonel Connolly said the defense factor would "dwarf all other considerations" in setting up the contemplated program.

Russia's Smile Toward Axis Is Slightly Chilly

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Berlin and Tokyo continue to make gestures of ostensible amity toward Russia in an effort to bring the Muscovites into line with the expansionist ambitions of the new triple alliance (Germany, Italy and Japan), or at least to keep the Bolsheviks from torpedoing the plans of the trio.

At this writing Japan—backed by Germany—seems to be tugging for a non-aggression pact with Russia, similar to the one existing between Germany and the Soviet. Nippon already has on hand all the trouble it wants.

Signor Mussolini, who hates Communism with an all-consuming passion, thus far has left the overtures to the other two musketeers—Hitler and Prince Konoze, Germany and Japan also had sworn great oaths against communism, but they're not letting that interfere with business.

Cold Smile from Moscow

Moscow has smiled in response, but it's one of those straight-lipped smiles—like that of the master gambler playing his cards close to his chest. It isn't easy to interpret.

Since the formation of the triple alliance, Communist Chief Stalin has maintained a silence which a mystery-story writer might designate as "inscrutable." Little straws often show where big winds are coming from—and Moscow has just tossed a tiny straw into the air. This is an official announcement listing Stalin's handbook, "A Brief History of the Communist Party," as among the world's best sellers.

The Communist party organ Pravda in commenting on this says that "thanks to the wise policy of Lenin and Stalin and guided by the trusty compass of the Marxist-Leninist theory, the front of Socialism has expanded."

Stalin's Answer

The Russian press is government controlled and items like that have a definite purpose. In itself the story isn't of vital importance, and yet to the reading public of the Soviet it is a reaffirmation of the policy for the spread of communism to other countries. It says as plainly as can be that recent developments haven't swerved Stalin from his course.

I don't, of course, say this is Stalin's reply to the alliance. But I certainly believe Messrs. Hitler, Mussolini and Konoze could find their answer there if they took the trouble to look. Doubtless they have.

It's quite possible that we may see further cooperation between Russia and the axis. And it won't be surprising if ultimately Stalin aligns himself with Britain in order to break the strength of the triple alliance which has become a menace to him. But whatever he does it will be directed toward the policy I indicated.

DRAFT LOTTERY DATE IS TENTATIVELY SET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The draft lottery to determine the order for calling conscripts into military service, officials said today, will be held here sometime between Oct. 21 and 26.

The exact date will depend on the time required for local draft boards to report through the state headquarters to Washington on the results of registration on Oct. 16.

The place at which a registered man's serial number appears on a master list will determine the order in which the local boards will send him a questionnaire for information on his eligibility for service and also the order in which, if he is eligible, he will be called up for a year's military service.

DEMOCRATS PLAN RALLY

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 3.—U. S. Sen. Scott W. Lucas (D-Ill.) will be principal speaker at a statewide party rally here Oct. 14, J. Edgar Bittling, Ohio Democratic chairman, announced last night. Also on the program he said will be former Gov. Davey candidate for governor and National Committee man Charles Sawyer.

URGES CHURCH ATTENDANCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The Golden Rule Foundation of New York announced today that it had received a letter from President Roosevelt urging attendance at religious services on "loyalty days" next Saturday and Sunday as a means of mobilizing the nation's moral and spiritual forces against the invasions of irreligion, conquest and war.

AWAITS JURY'S VERDICT

Drawing of New Huber Co. Branch Office

Extensive remodeling work on the old McMurray Sulky Co. building, which has been leased to house the Ohio branch, is progressing "very satisfactorily," Huber officials said today.

The front, to be made almost exclusively of brick and glass, will be all white, giving a colonial effect. Adding to the design's attractiveness will be two large brick columns extending from the ground to the roof. Two standard size doors will be set in the almost solid plate glass front extending across the ground floor. On the second floor will be a row of small windows.

Workers so far have removed all the flooring and cleared out several partitions, along with the old front. Electricians and plumbers are also busy on their work. The company expects to be able to start operations in the branch office about Nov. 1.

Company officials again emphasized that the main Huber offices and plant will continue to be located on North Greenwood street. The new branch office site is at 262 North Main street, across from the St. Mary Catholic church.

Remodeling is expected to cost about $12,000. The branch will be the first ever established by the company for Ohio. Ohio business is now handled at the home office.

DRAFT

whom may not be able to withstand such losses unless their employers continue them on full pay, the committee reported.

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the common pleas courtroom, the recording committee will meet to hear any requests from nominees for exemption from service as draft officials. Reasons for requesting exemption must be urgent, committee members warned.

On the committee are Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young, chairman, Probate Judge Oscar Gast and James C. Woods, business manager of The Star.

In Three Districts

The men nominated by the committee will serve in three draft districts in Marion county, each district to have a five-member draft board, a three-man registrars' advisory board and an appeals agent. The districts are:

Wards 1, 2 and 3; Wards 4, 5 and 6; and the remaining rural area of the county.

When the nominations are complete, they will be sent to Gov. Bricker. He will formally appoint the registrars' advisory boards, but will forward to Washington the names of nominees for the draft boards and appeals agents, who will be formally appointed by the President.

The county committee reported today the names of the nominees will not be announced until approved by Gov. Bricker and President Roosevelt.

At the board of elections meeting today the board is expected to arrange to have all 57 precinct polling places in the county open on Oct. 16 for the men to register for the draft. The board will also decide how many officials will be needed to handle the work in each precinct.

On Oct. 16 all men between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, must go to their regular voting places between 7 a. m. and 9 a. m. and register. The registrations will form the basis for the draft which will come later.

It is estimated 6,740 men will register in the county.

46 Counties Report Draft Nominations

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 3.—Nominations for draft boards in 46 counties had been received by the War Relocation Authority today. Eight additional counties would be in tomorrow and the remainder by Saturday, enabling him to forward the entire list for Ohio's 338 boards to President Roosevelt Monday.

When the President appoints the five-man boards and a registrar, an advisory for each, the membership will be announced by the chairman of the county nominating committees.

The boards must begin work Oct. 17, the day after 859,000 male Ohioans are registered by county election systems. Approximately 15,000 will be drafted for a year's military training.

After the draft board nominations are completed, the adjutant general's office will receive recommendations from the nine district courts of appeals for membership on nine three-man draft appeals boards. The Ohio State Medical society also will recommend a medical examiner and assistant for each draft board.

Board Announces Wyandot Co. Selections

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 3.—Recommendation for appointment of the Wyandot county draft board, advisors and appeal agent have been announced by the county committee which includes Judge Russell H. Kear and Nelson J. Rall. The draft board includes Francis P. Vogel of Upper Sandusky, Charles M. Coons of Nevada, Mervin R. Shafer of Carey, Charles G. Epp of Wharton and George Kappner of Sycamore. Action Taken by Auxiliary of V. F. W.

A contribution to the fund to purchase an iron lung for Marion City hospital was voted last night by the auxiliary to Marion Post No. 3313, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a meeting in the V. F. W. hall.

Mrs. Nevada Roberts was appointed local chairman of the annual national essay contest which the auxiliary sponsors as a major Americanism project.

The contest will be open to high school pupils of public and parochial schools throughout the country. Two thousand dollars in prizes will be awarded, the first prize being $1,000 and a gold medal.

The essays, limited to from 500 to 1,000 words, will be on the theme, "One Nation, Indivisible." Winning local essays will be entered in a state contest and the national winner will be elected from the winning state essays. Recognition will be given local and state winners.

Under the "wise leadership" of chairman, named Mrs. Edith Daly and Mrs. Dorothy Beckel captains of teams for a membership drive. Mrs. Mary DeLong was elected a trustee for 18 months and Mrs. Bertha Hanson was named Americanism chairman and patriotic instructor.

TAFT CHARGES NATIONAL DEFENSE IS MISHANDLED

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 3.—U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) charged last night that the Roosevelt administration is "incompetent to be trusted with the American defense."

There is "no comprehensive plan for defense today," he said, "no plan to finance the defense program, and no evidence that there ever will be while Franklin D. Roosevelt is president," he said.

Under the "wise leadership" of Wendell Wilkie, he declared, "we can build this country into a great defensive mechanism, able to repel the attacks of every enemy, while retaining within our boundaries the liberties established by our forefathers."

"We could not find a man more competent to meet the present situation," he added.

MICHIGAN HOODLUMISM BLAMED ON ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Rep. Woodruff, Republican of Michigan, has blamed the Roosevelt administration for what he termed the demonstrations of "hoodlumism" which greeted Wendell L. Wilkie, the Republican presidential nominee, in Michigan.

"Preaching of class distinctions and the stirring up of hatreds by the Roosevelt administration," he asserted in a prepared statement yesterday, "are directly responsible."

WAR PLANES ORDERED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The war department awarded today a $141,320,610 contract for war planes which Secretary Stimson said almost completed the army's contracts for more than 18,500 planes of all types. The contract went to the Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., Santa Monica, Calif.

BRIDGE SALE BLOCKED

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 3.—Special Circuit Judge George S. Wallace today granted an injunction restraining sale of the Huntington-Chesapeake bridge to the Cabell county court for $2,000,000, his order stating that the price was excessive, and that the court acted without authority in the purchase.

CHEERS

terminal until it circled Euclid and Huron avenue and arrived at the Hollenden hotel.

A shout came from an office building "Hurray for the C.I.O.," and Wilkie turned, grinned and waved.

Following his lead came cars bearing the Ohio leaders and others of the official party, with an old fashioned stagecoach pulled by four horses bringing up the rear. Not a "boo" was heard on the route.

The crowd at the speech-making was the equal of any the public auditorium has ever housed, said John Wasie, its business manager. Some 15,000 persons overflowed the main auditorium, a couple of thousands jammed on to the huge stage and 3,200 were in the packed music hall on the other side of it.

Reception Is Riotous

When Wilkie appeared and stretched out his hands the cheering literally burst forth, confetti flew and bells rang.

Governor Bricker was the principal preliminary speaker. He said "I want to report that all of your racketeers are driven out of your state government and they will stay out."

He promised state cooperation in the defense program and "I pledge you this will be done without delay."

Burton warned of the strain of the presidency and said "if a voter is unwilling that Henry Wallace (vice presidential candidate) be president, he should not vote for Roosevelt."

As Joseph W. Martin Jr., Republican national chairman, took his turn on the platform, he drew cheers with the declaration: "This is not a Republican fight; this is an American party; when Wendell Wilkie is elected president it will not be a Republican administration; it will be an American administration."

Admirers in the hotel lobby and corridors waited for a glimpse of Mrs. Wilkie who emerged to greet cheering crowds with no campaign speeches or any other kind of speeches and would write no column if her husband becomes president.

"I am content that my husband do the writing and talking," she concluded.

HUNGARIAN ATROCITIES REPORTED IN RUMANIA

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 3.—Government circles reported new Hungarian-Rumania tension today following upon reports of "additional atrocities" in the ceded area of Transylvania, now occupied by Hungarian troops.

Wladimir Fabricius, wife of the German minister to Rumania, went to Cluj to investigate reports that her friend, Vittoria Goga, onetime concert singer and widow of former Premier Octavian Goga, had been mistreated by Hungarians at her Transylvania chateau.

Meanwhile, Iron Guard headquarters, military officials and secret police formally assured the British legation that they were not holding A. Miller, who was seized yesterday at a suburban club operated by the Astra-Romana company and carried away by four men in civilian attire. Miller is a director of the company.

ROME, Oct. 3.—Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia said today that Japan is preparing to attack Singapore, Britain's great Far Eastern fortress, in the event that Britain obstructs Japan's policy in the orient or the United States enters the war.

Mario Appellus, the paper's literary commentator, calling Singapore "the pivot of British positions in East Asia," declared: "Japan is seeking to place itself in the best possible position strategically against Singapore in anticipation of being forced by English hostility or the intervention of new allies of England to attack and throw down the pillar of Singapore."

DEFENSE BILL

up in the air. Congress started the week with hopes of cleaning up the legislative calendar and getting away by Sunday. Now, however, the record tallies in terms of some day next week.

The $1,482,693,636 defense appropriations bill called up for action today represented an increase of $12,700,000 over the house-approved total.

Besides funds for conscription and the maintenance of any army of 1,399,441, the bill allocates money to expedite airplane construction, to speed up airplane pilot training and to purchase 78,015 new motor vehicles for the army.

The threat of trouble over the $200,000,000 war department civil functions bill arose after elimination of the airport construction provisions already voted by the house.

The appropriations committee cut out this item when it approved the measure yesterday, but Senator Adams (D-Colo.) said he would not be surprised if administration sentiment developed for its return to the bill.

FOURTH CHILD BORN TO COL. AND MRS. LINDBERGH

Daughter Arrives at Hospital in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh gave birth yesterday to her fourth child—a 7½-pound daughter—a day before her third book was published.

Mother and daughter are reported doing well at Doctors hospital. Mrs. Lindbergh was rigid yesterday afternoon by her aviator husband and later by her mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

Colonel Lindbergh, in recent expressions, has urged that the United States avoid involvement in the European war. Mrs. Lindbergh's new book is entitled "The Wave of the Future," and in it she views the conflict as a struggle between the forces of the past and of the future, with Germany, Italy and Russia in the latter category.

"I cannot see this war," she writes, "simply and purely as a struggle between the 'forces of good' and the 'forces of evil.'"

Defense Highways in Ohio Are Listed for Improvement

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Hundreds of miles of key roads crisscrossing Ohio are to be improved as a step toward making the nation invulnerable to invasion.

Military and civil officials withheld details, but it was learned reliably that the plan called for improvement of existing key roads and the strengthening or replacement of scores of bridges in the Buckeye state.

Roads considered include:

1. Route 14 from East Liverpool northwest through Ravenna to Cleveland.

2. Route 20 from Conneaut west through Cleveland to Toledo.

3. Route 40 from Wheeling west through Zanesville, Columbus, Springfield and Dayton.

4. Route 23 from Portsmouth north through Chillicothe, Columbus to Delaware.

5. Route 42 from Delaware northeast to Cleveland.

6. Route 25 from Toledo south through Findlay, Lima and Dayton to Cincinnati.

Some work, including new roads to military and population centers in the state, would be done by the works project administration.

There was no official estimate of the cost of the big development but it was suggested that the program could be financed from more than $250,000 of federal-aid funds appropriated by congress for projects which matched allotments dollar for dollar.

Additional funds—perhaps an equal amount or more—would be available for use by the WPA.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge is further amazed at the incredible change in Veritien and ponders the reason.

WHEN I knocked at my father's door, Philip Veritien stood directly behind me, and I could hear his spasmodic, agitated breathing as if he had been running. That he sorely dreaded this interview was only too apparent, and again I wondered what possibly could have happened to turn this haughty pampered dictator into a trembling suppliant, for that, incredible as it seemed, appeared to be his attitude.

It was no time for me to linger, I told myself, and when my father opened the door, I spoke hastily: "Here is Mr. Veritien, Father." I said, conscious that I was being superfluously banal. "You won't need me for anything, will you?"

My father's eyes met mine with humorous and indulgent comprehension. "No, my dear," he said, and with a muttered, "then please excuse me," I fairly scuttled away to the room which Lillian and I were sharing.

"How's the Great Panjandrum?" she asked, but her mirth faded quickly at my answer. "You wouldn't know him," I said soberly. "He's terribly upset, unaccountably humble, and insists that Olga must not know he is here, until he knows how this interview with Father turns out."

Royal Romance May End
"The inference being," Lillian said thoughtfully, "that the inference might terminate in such a manner as to make possible an end to the royal romance."

"Exactly," I answered, "but what in the world could have happened?" "A dozen things," she retorted, "but, whatever it may be, I'll wager a good bit it has to do with the melodrama in which your father, Jack Leslie, Mary and Noel are playing star roles, with the rest of us doing bit parts and acting as supernumeraries."

"You mean," I said slowly, "that the old connection we suspected between Jack Leslie and Philip Veritien is—"

Her eyes were suddenly somber and troubled, and she tapped my lips with quick, imperative fingers. "Don't even whisper it until we're sure," she said. "One thing is certain, however, old dear. The Moving Finger writes, and all the rest of it, including the fact that we can't do a single thing about it. So we might as well sit and invite our souls, or is there something else on the program that will engage your immediate attention?" Katherine has gone to the nursery to give Mother Graham a chance to go to her room and have her dinner in peace, while Katrina and the kids have theirs in the nursery. 991 Get Traffic Tickets in First Month of New Enforcement Plan

During the first month of Marion's new "fix-proof, fool-proof" traffic citation system, 991 motorists received summons to appear in court on traffic ordinance violation charges and 412 were fined, municipal court records for September show.

All those who have appeared in court voluntarily have been fined $1 each, but those who failed to appear are being rounded up and are subject to payment of $1.50 in addition to the fine.

Police reported that the 991 traffic citations represented a wide variety of violations but that a majority fell in the classification of parking offenses — overtime parking, failure to pay for parking in the meter zone and parking in restricted areas.

381 Out of City
Although the 412 fined represented less than half those who received citations, a large majority of those not paying failed to appear voluntarily and have not yet been located. Court officials figure there are 102 alleged violators in Marion county and 381 outside the county who haven't made an appearance yet.

At present a number of warrants have been issued for violators living within reach of local enforcement officers; in fact six warrants have been served and 24 persons arrested. The biggest

BOOST NAVY IN ATLANTIC

Fleet Commander To Go to Washington from Base at Hawaii.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 — The navy gave emphasis to its two-ocean policy today with preparations for putting its Atlantic forces on a more formidable footing, and the announcement that the commander-in-chief of the main fleet was coming here from Hawaii for conferences "on the general situation in the Pacific." Secretary of Navy Knox contributed to the interest in the coming visit of Admiral James O. Richardson when he told a press conference yesterday that he thought a suggestion for a naval good will cruise to Australia and New Zealand was a "good idea," although there had been no decision on the subject.

Plans for establishment of a "newly organized force" in the Atlantic were disclosed by the navy department. The squadron, to be known as "the patrol force, United States fleet," will consist of more than 125 vessels and the necessary complement of aircraft.

There was no indication in navy circles whether creation of the new force had any connection with the recently negotiated mutual assistance pact between Berlin, Rome and Tokyo. An Atlantic squadron has been in existence two years, but the new organization is designed to strengthen it and unify its command.

Two other developments of the day dealt with Atlantic defenses. Secretary Knox said that his department would not "let any grass grow under our feet" in the speedy development of the Atlantic bases acquired from Britain last month.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia said at Boston that the work of the joint Canadian-American defense board has reduced the problems of New England's defense "to a minimum."

LaGuardia, chairman of the American section of the board, expressed some concern about the Pacific.

"By reason of what happened in Europe a few days ago," he said, referring to the axis pact, "we must expedite plans for west coast defense."

Knox said that his department had no present intention of withdrawing the marine detachment of more than 1,000 men now on duty in Shanghai.

MUNICIPAL COURT FEES SET RECORD

$1,712 Yield Called Highest in 13-Year Court History.

Municipal court receipts last month soared to $1,712.13, the largest in the court's 13-year history, a report of Mrs. Clara Fleck, deputy clerk, shows.

Court officials credited the gain largely to two factors, first, collection of $412 in traffic court fines—an all-time high—and second, receipt of $239.25 in fees in civil cases which is the highest in several months.

Of the total receipts the city received $1,107.40, the largest monthly payment made to the city in several years and approximately $500 more than the cost of operating the court during the month, officials reported.

The city received the traffic court fines, the fees from the civil cases and $456.15 from fines and costs in criminal cases.

Of the remainder of the receipts, the Marion County Law Library association received $434.63 and the state $170.05.

$863 YIELDED BY METERS IN MONTH

Member Income Averages
Cents Daily Per Meter.

Partial meter collections during September amounted to $863.12, an average of 35 cents per meter for each of the city's 103 meters. City Auditor Elmer Shaw reported today.

Included in these receipts was a payment of $120.05 made early in the month representing nickels deposited in the meters during the past few days. This was an average of 39 cents per meter for the month. The largest yield for any one collection period since the meters were installed.

The September yield was slightly less than the $982.90 received in August, but payment of a partial meter was required only on September 29 as compared to September 26 in August. The average daily yield per meter in August was 34 cents, one cent less than the average daily yield in September.

Total receipts for the two months are $1,750.67 while the total fee paid by the city for the two months amounts to $731.12, leaving a balance of $1,019.67 in the parking meter fund, Mr. Shaw reported.

Meet the Reds

More in The Star's Series on Champs.

Shaffer's Coolness

Help to Reds

When Shaffer is another champion of Bill McKee's, the Cincinnati Reds manager, he will be used to work with in Boston. The Cincinnati Reds manager pulled him from the Bees late last season and the 35-year-old southpaw has been doing regular relief duty ever since. His experience and cool head in the pen have made him valuable to the pennant drive. He probes with his head as much as his arm and the batter has to do some thinking on his own before swinging the timber.

Ripple Helps Solve

Outfield Problem

Jimmy Ripple sparked the Brooklyn Dodgers to third place in the National league last year but the Dodgers had too many outfielders in 1940 and sent him to their Montreal farm. Then they asked waivers.

The Cincinnati Reds front office snapped him up late in the season. He promptly supplied hits and capable fielding and may have solved the problem long presented by left field, which has cost the Reds upwards of $150,000 in three years. Jimmy says his only difficulty is keeping his weight down.

When a baseball rookie moves up to the big time he's out to make a name for himself and work up to a big salary. When a college football star becomes a professional football rookie he must live up to a name already made—and justify a salary that probably as great as he'll ever make at the game. The college fame of the six rookies here makes them boxoffice material in their first year. They'll have to be pro standouts to draw as well in 1947. Joe Boyd and Harry Smith were two of the nation's outstanding college line-men last fall and McAfee, Van Every, Eakin and McFadden made the headlines every week-end for their backfield exploits. Their worth as pro footballers is still to be completely proved—but their bosses think they'll do.
